PhD-application guideline: Project proposal for “own project”

Project title, name and supervisor

List the project title, your name, university, and country as well as the name of the supervisor at the Department of Micro- and Nanotechnology that endorses the project.

Abstract

State in a few lines the contents and aim of the research project.

Detailed (2 page) project description

You are free to present your project as you want, but please make sure to include the following aspects: A description of the main goal of the project and the novel theoretical, experimental, technological, and/or industrial research aspects of it; a rough project timeline for the three project years including some of the major partial goals of the project; a description of the resources and know-how at the department on which the project is based and mention, if any, both internal and external collaborators.

Length

The length of the project proposal is limited to two pages.
